THE BUSINESS

Overview

Air Canada is Canada's largest domestic, U.S. transborder and international airline and the largest provider of scheduled passenger services in the Canadian market, the Canada-U.S. transborder market and in the international market to and from Canada. In 2015, Air Canada, together with Jazz Aviation LP (“Jazz”) and other regional airlines operating flights on behalf of Air Canada under capacity purchase agreements, operated, on average, 1,579 daily scheduled flights to 193 direct destinations on five continents, comprised of 63 Canadian cities, 53 destinations in the United States and a total of 77 cities in Europe, the Middle East, Asia, Australia, the Caribbean, Mexico and South America. In 2015, Air Canada carried over 41 million passengers, an increase of nearly 7% from 2014 (over 38.5 million passengers).

At December 31, 2015, Air Canada mainline operated a fleet of 171 aircraft, comprised of 74 Airbus narrow-body aircraft, 60 Boeing and Airbus wide-body aircraft and 37 Embraer 190 regional jets, while Air Canada rouge operated a fleet of 39 aircraft, comprised of 20 Airbus A319 aircraft, four Airbus A321 aircraft and 15 Boeing 767-300 aircraft, for a total mainline fleet of 210 aircraft.

The ongoing renewal and expansion of Air Canada's wide-body fleet continues to be a key element of its strategy to profitably develop its international network and to become a global champion. In 2015, Air Canada took delivery of six Boeing 787 aircraft (for a total of 12 Boeing 787 aircraft at December 31, 2015, out of 37 Boeing 787 aircraft on order). These aircraft, with their lower operating costs, mid-size capacity and longer range, are driving new opportunities for profitable growth at Air Canada and allowing the airline to more efficiently operate routes previously operated with Boeing 767 aircraft and to serve new international destinations.

In order to improve the airline's profitability and competitive position in the leisure markets, Air Canada created a travel leisure group in 2012. The Air Canada Leisure Group represents a coordinated strategy which leverages the strengths of Air Canada, Air Canada rouge, the airline's lower-cost leisure airline, and Air Canada Vacations. Through Air Canada rouge, Air Canada is improving margins on leisure routes previously operated by the mainline fleet and is pursuing opportunities in new international leisure markets made viable by Air Canada rouge's more competitive cost structure. Air Canada Vacations is a leading Canadian tour operator, developing, marketing and distributing vacation travel packages, operating in the outbound leisure travel market (Caribbean, Mexico, U.S., Europe, Central and South America, South Pacific, Australia and Asia) and also offering cruise packages in North America, Europe and the Caribbean.

Air Canada enhances its domestic and transborder network through capacity purchase agreements (“CPAs”) with regional airlines, namely Jazz, Sky Regional Airlines Inc. (“Sky Regional”), Air Georgian Limited (“Air Georgian”) and Exploits Valley Air Services Ltd. (“EVAS”), which all operate flights on behalf of Air Canada under the Air Canada Express® banner (and are referred to as Contracted Carriers in this AIF). These carriers form an integral part of the airline’s international network strategy as they provide valuable traffic feed to Air Canada and Air Canada rouge routes. At December 31, 2015, the Air Canada Express fleet was comprised of 43 Bombardier regional jets, 85 Bombardier Dash-8 turboprop aircraft, 15 Embraer 175 aircraft and 17 Beech 1900 aircraft, for a total of 160 aircraft. As part of Air Canada’s continued focus on cost reduction, on February 2, 2015, Air Canada and Jazz concluded an amended and extended capacity purchase agreement (“Jazz CPA”) which allows for significant cost reductions, a stronger relationship and better alignment of interests over the long term.

Air Canada is a founding member of the Star Alliance® network. Through the 28 member Star Alliance® network, Air Canada is able to offer its customers access to approximately 1,300 destinations in 192 countries, as well as reciprocal participation in frequent flyer programs and the use of airport lounges and other common airport facilities.

Air Canada is able to build customer loyalty through Air Canada Altitude™, its frequent flyer program and through its relationship with Aimia Canada Inc. (formerly Aeroplan Canada Inc. and referred to as “Aeroplan” in this AIF), Air Canada’s loyalty program provider. Air Canada Altitude™ recognizes and rewards Aeroplan® members who are among Air Canada’s most frequent flyers by delivering a range of premium travel privileges and benefits depending on the status level they have reached. Air Canada offers its customers who are Aeroplan® members the opportunity to earn Aeroplan® Miles when they fly with Air Canada and with the 27 other Star Alliance® member airlines. Aeroplan is also Air Canada’s single largest customer. The relationship with Aeroplan is designed to provide a stable and recurring source of revenue from the purchase of Air Canada seats by Aeroplan, which in turn are provided to Aeroplan® members who choose to redeem their Aeroplan® Miles for travel on Air Canada. Additionally, Aeroplan® members may also choose to redeem their Aeroplan® Miles for travel with the Star Alliance® member airlines.

Air Canada also generates revenue from its cargo division. Air Canada Cargo provides direct cargo services to over 150 Canadian, U.S. transborder and international destinations and has sales representation in over 50 countries. Air Canada Cargo is Canada’s largest provider of air cargo services as measured by cargo capacity. Air cargo services are provided on domestic and U.S. transborder flights and on international flights between Canada and major markets in Europe, Asia, South America and Australia.

STRATEGY

Air Canada’s principal objective is to be among the best global airlines, to continually improve customer experience and employee engagement, and to create value for its shareholders. Air Canada is pursuing its principal goal of becoming a global champion through its focus on four core strategies:

- Identifying and implementing cost reduction and revenue generating initiatives;
- Pursuing profitable international growth opportunities and leveraging competitive advantages to appropriately enhance margins, in large part by increasing connecting traffic through international gateways and expanding and competing effectively in the leisure market to and from Canada;

- Engaging customers by continually enhancing their travel experience and providing a consistently high level of customer service, with additional emphasis on premium and business passengers and products;
- Fostering positive culture change through employee engagement programs, including meaningful investments in required training and other tools, that promote an appreciation of how the airline and its employees can work together in a supportive and enriching environment to successfully realize Air Canada's goals and objectives, including delivering top customer care.

Air Canada's key priorities and key achievements in 2015 are discussed in section 4 "Strategy" of Air Canada's 2015 MD&A, which section is incorporated into the AIF by this reference.

ROUTES AND SCHEDULES

In 2015, Air Canada, together with its Contracted Carriers, operated, on average, 1,579 daily scheduled flights to 193 direct destinations on five continents, comprised of 63 Canadian cities, 53 destinations in the United States and a total of 77 cities in Europe, the Middle East, Asia, Australia, the Caribbean, Mexico and Central and South America. Domestic, U.S. transborder and international departures accounted for approximately 66%, 26% and 8%, respectively, of the 1,579 average daily departures.

Air Canada's hubs are located in Toronto, Vancouver, Montréal and Calgary, each of which provides extensive access to domestic, transborder and international markets. Toronto Pearson International Airport ("Toronto Pearson Airport") is the largest hub in Canada and a significant airline origin and destination market in North America. In 2015, Air Canada, together with its Contracted Carriers, operated, on average:

- 349 daily departures from Toronto;
- 148 daily departures from Vancouver;
- 144 daily departures from Montréal, and
- 110 daily departures from Calgary.

Domestic Services

In 2015, Air Canada, together with its Contracted Carriers, provided the largest network and most extensive product offering in Canada, with scheduled direct passenger service to 63 Canadian destinations. The most important Canadian routes, in terms of operating revenues, are the transcontinental routes linking Toronto, Montréal and Ottawa with major western Canadian cities, including Vancouver, Calgary and Winnipeg. On a combined basis, Air Canada, together with its Contracted Carriers, operates a large number of short-haul routes, including Rapidair® routes, linking Toronto, Montréal and Ottawa. Air Canada, together with its Contracted Carriers, also offers frequent service linking major metropolitan centres within western Canada, and operates numerous flights between Calgary, Edmonton and Vancouver. In addition to transcontinental and commuter routes, Air Canada, together with its Contracted Carriers, provides service between and within Central Canada, the Prairies and the Atlantic provinces. In 2015, Air Canada route began operating flights on a limited number of new leisure-oriented domestic routes, including Halifax-Calgary, Toronto-Kelowna, and Toronto-Abbotsford, as part of our strategy for sustainable, profitable growth and to complement the mainline domestic network.

Transborder Services

With the most non-stop destinations and flights from Canada to the United States, Air Canada, together with its Contracted Carriers, carries more passengers between Canada and the United States than any other airline. Air Canada, together with its Contracted Carriers, directly served 53 U.S. destinations in 2015. Air Canada's network reach is also enhanced through its extensive connections and code share flights with United Airlines, its Star Alliance® partner.

In the summer of 2016, Air Canada, along with Air Canada rouge and Air Canada Express®, is scheduled to provide new non-stop services between four key Canadian hubs and 11 U.S. cities. The new transborder routes will include new destinations, such as Toronto to Washington-Dulles, Toronto to Salt Lake City, Toronto to Jacksonville and Vancouver to San Jose, while also creating new city-pair routings, such as Toronto to Portland, Vancouver to Chicago, Montréal to Houston, Montréal to Denver and Calgary to San Francisco.

International Services

Air Canada is well positioned as Canada's largest scheduled international airline. In 2015, Air Canada provided scheduled service directly to 77 destinations in Europe, the Middle East, Asia, Australia, the Caribbean, and Central and South America. Air Canada offers transatlantic services to the United Kingdom, Germany, France, Switzerland, Israel, Ireland, Italy, Spain, Belgium, Denmark, Netherlands, Greece, Portugal, Turkey, United Arab Emirates and India. In 2015, Air Canada began operating non-stop service from Toronto to Mexico City, Amsterdam, Delhi and Dubai and introduced non-stop Air Canada rouge service from Montréal to Venice and from Vancouver to Osaka.

Air Canada's summer 2016 schedule includes the introduction of year-round, non-stop service from Vancouver to Brisbane, from Toronto to Seoul and from Montréal to Lyon. In addition, Air Canada rouge will operate seasonal non-stop service from Montréal to Casablanca, from Toronto to London-Gatwick, from Toronto to Warsaw; from Toronto to Prague, from Toronto to Budapest and from Toronto to Glasgow, and from Vancouver to Dublin.

Air Canada participates in a transatlantic joint venture with United Airlines and Deutsche Lufthansa AG, referred to as A++. By coordinating pricing, scheduling and sales (under the joint venture), Air Canada is better able to service customers by offering more travel options, greater choice and streamlined service on routings between North and Central America, and Africa, India, Europe and the Middle East.

Air Canada offers services to the Asia-Pacific market via its Vancouver, Calgary and Toronto hubs. Air Canada operates non-stop flights to Japan (Vancouver, Calgary and Toronto to Tokyo-Narita and Toronto to Tokyo-Haneda), China (Vancouver and Toronto to Beijing, Shanghai and Hong Kong) and Korea (Vancouver to Seoul). In 2015, Air Canada rouge service was introduced between Vancouver and Osaka-Kansai.

Air Canada has a market-leading position as the only carrier flying non-stop between Canada and South America. Air Canada and Air Canada rouge provide service to six destinations in South America via its Toronto hub (Sao Paulo, Buenos Aires, Santiago, Bogota, Rio de Janeiro and Lima). Air Canada and Air Canada rouge also offer service from Toronto to Panama City, making it the only Canadian network carrier operating between Canada and Panama, as well as to San Jose and Liberia in Costa Rica.

Air Canada also provides service to 10 destinations in Mexico/Central America and 30 destinations in the Caribbean.

THE AIR CANADA LEISURE GROUP

As discussed in the section entitled "The Business" of this AIF, the Air Canada Leisure Group was created in 2012 with a goal of improving the airline's earnings capabilities and strengthening its competitive position. This leisure travel group represents a coordinated strategy which leverages the strengths of Air Canada, Air Canada rouge and Air Canada Vacations.

Air Canada Vacations

Air Canada Vacations is a Canadian tour operator based in Montréal and Toronto. Air Canada Vacations operates its business in the outbound leisure travel market (Caribbean, Mexico, U.S., Europe, Central and South America, South Pacific, Australia and Asia) by developing, marketing and distributing vacation travel packages. Air Canada Vacations also offers cruise packages in North America, Europe and the Caribbean. Air Canada Vacations offers its products through its website at vacations.aircanada.com and a network of independent travel agencies across Canada.

Air Canada rouge

The ongoing strategic expansion of Air Canada rouge in parallel with the growth of Air Canada's mainline fleet continues. Since its first flight in July 2013, the leisure carrier has been deployed to a growing number of Caribbean destinations and select leisure destinations in the United States and in Canada, as well as in international leisure markets where demand is highly-elastic and responds positively to lower-priced, non-stop capacity. The ability of Air Canada rouge to leverage the strengths of Air Canada, including its extensive network with enhanced connection options, operational expertise and frequent flyer program, is a further competitive advantage, offering additional customer benefits vis-à-vis its competitors. Pursuant to the 2014 collective agreement concluded with the Air Canada Pilots Association ("ACPA"), Air Canada rouge may operate up to 50 aircraft (comprised of 25 narrow-body aircraft and 25 Boeing 767 aircraft). At December 31, 2015, Air Canada rouge operated 39 aircraft and expects to have a total of 50 aircraft in its fleet by summer of 2017.

Air Canada rouge has a cost structure consistent with that of its leisure market competitors, effectively lowering operating expense per available seat miles ("CASM") on leisure routes through increased seat density, lower wage rates, more flexible work rules, and reduced overhead costs. This is yielding enhanced margins and providing new opportunities for profitable growth in international leisure markets. The Air Canada rouge fleet is estimated to generate 25% lower CASM when compared to the same aircraft in the mainline fleet. Air Canada rouge has exceeded management expectations since its launch in 2013 and is delivering enhanced margins on leisure routes previously operated by Air Canada's mainline fleet in addition to opening new leisure route opportunities internationally. Air Canada rouge has been further strengthened by the additional flexibility provided through terms of new labour agreements with the unions representing its flight attendants and pilots.

CONTRACTED CARRIERS

As discussed in the section entitled "The Business" of this AIF, Air Canada enhances its domestic and transborder network through capacity purchase agreements with regional airlines, namely Jazz, Sky Regional, Air Georgian and EVAS, which all operate flights on behalf of Air Canada under the Air Canada Express® banner.

Jazz is an integral part of Air Canada's North American strategy. Jazz operates both domestic and transborder services for Air Canada pursuant to the Jazz CPA. Jazz also provides valuable feed traffic to Air Canada mainline and Air Canada rouge routes. Jazz operates scheduled passenger service on behalf of Air Canada with approximately 711 departures per day to 56 destinations in Canada and 22 destinations in the United States as at December 31, 2015. Approximately 37% of Jazz's traffic connects to Air Canada's mainline network. In 2015, Jazz contributed approximately 18% of Air Canada's consolidated domestic Available Seat Miles ("ASMs") capacity and approximately 10% of Air Canada's consolidated transborder ASMs capacity.

In January 2015, Air Canada concluded an amended capacity purchase agreement with Jazz. The highlights of the new CPA include:

- Extension of the term by five years to December 31, 2025;
- Establishment of a pilot mobility agreement that provides Jazz pilots with access to pilot vacancies at Air Canada, thus allowing a significant reduction in Jazz operating costs;
- Simplification and modernization of the Jazz fleet which will provide improved service and greater efficiency;
- Reduction in Air Canada costs derived from a combination of improved fleet economics, greater network flexibility and reduced operating and labour costs; and
- Modification of the Jazz CPA fee structure, moving from a "cost plus" mark-up to a more industry standard fixed fee compensation structure. The new cost structure is consistent with Air Canada's cost reduction goals and is designed to improve Air Canada's competitiveness in regional markets.

Sky Regional operates five Q400 aircraft on 15 daily non-stop return flights between downtown Toronto and Montréal's Pierre Elliott Trudeau International Airport ("Montréal Trudeau Airport") and 15 Embraer 175 aircraft for Air Canada under a capacity purchase agreement. The Embraer 175 aircraft operate primarily on U.S. short-haul routes, from Toronto and Montréal, to destinations in the Northeast U.S.

Air Georgian operates a number of regional routes on Air Canada's behalf, including transborder routes, using Canadair regional jet aircraft and Beech 1900 aircraft while EVAS operates Beech 1900 aircraft on routes primarily within the Maritimes.

STAR ALLIANCE®

Air Canada is a founding member of the Star Alliance® network, the world's largest airline alliance group. Air Canada operates an extended global network in conjunction with its international partners.

Since its inception in 1997, the Star Alliance® network has grown to include the following 28 airlines: Adria Airways, Aegean Airlines, Air Canada, Air China, Air India, Air New Zealand, ANA, Asiana Airlines, Austrian, Avianca, Avianca Brazil, Brussels Airlines, Copa Airlines, Croatia Airlines, EGYPTAIR, Ethiopian Airlines, EVA Air, LOT Polish Airlines, Lufthansa, Scandinavian Airlines, Shenzhen Airlines, Singapore Airlines, South African Airways, SWISS, TAP Portugal, THAI, Turkish Airlines and United Airlines.

Through Air Canada's strategic and commercial arrangements with Star Alliance® members and other airlines, Air Canada's customers have access to approximately 1,300 destinations in 192 countries, with reciprocal participation in frequent flyer programs and the use of airport lounges. The Star Alliance® network is an alliance that brings together flight networks, lounge access, check-in services, ticketing and dozens of other services to improve the travel experience for customers. The airlines have implemented initiatives, such as the common utilization of facilities, and are focusing on capturing potential synergies in additional areas. Air Canada code shares with all Star Alliance® members with the exception of Adria Airways, Copa, Shenzhen Airlines and Avianca Brazil. In 2015, Air Canada and Croatia Airlines entered into a codeshare agreement to improve air travel between Canada and Croatia via common European gateways. Furthermore, at the end of February 2016, Air Canada introduced a codeshare agreement with EVA Air applicable for select Asian gateways and domestic Canadian points to enhance travel between Canada and Taiwan.

Air Canada also code shares with a number of carriers who are not members of Star Alliance. These include Aer Lingus, Etihad, Jet Airways, Middle East Airlines and SriLankan. In 2015, Air Canada and Brazil's GOL Linhas Aéreas Inteligentes introduced a new codeshare agreement to improve air travel connectivity between Canada and Brazil.

In 2015, Air Canada and Air China announced that they were preparing for the launch of non-stop flights between Beijing and Montréal, creating the first direct trans-Pacific link between Asia and Montréal. Air China commenced flights in September 2015 (initially three-times-weekly with a Boeing 777-300ER aircraft) and Air Canada has placed its code for sale on the flights. In a second phase (subject to agreement of terms by the parties and requisite approvals by the relevant competition authorities) Air Canada and Air China intend to form a comprehensive revenue sharing joint venture in respect of all their flights between China and Canada.

AIR CANADA'S ENVIRONMENTAL OBJECTIVES

Air Canada is mindful of the impact that its use of energy and natural resources has on the environment. To minimize the generation of waste as well as the emission of carbon dioxide and other greenhouse gases, Air Canada has developed an environmental management system based on principles of the International Organization for Standardization standard ISO 14000. Providing a continual cycle of planning, implementation and review, Air Canada's environmental management system is designed to ensure continuous improvement in its efforts towards meeting its environmental objectives.

Air Canada's main environmental objectives are as follows:

- Optimize energy consumption and minimize emissions resulting from air and ground operations including aircraft maintenance;
- Ensure efficient use of resources, minimize waste generation and effectively manage waste disposal;
- Minimize noise from aircraft operations;
- Respond effectively to accidental release of hazardous substances and eliminate occurrence of future incidents; and
- Promote sound environmental management policies and practices throughout the Corporation.

Air Canada provides its greenhouse gas emissions and climate change disclosure, annually, in the Air Canada Corporate Sustainability Report. Air Canada also monitors its carbon dioxide emissions for flights to and from EU destinations pursuant to the EU Emission Trading Scheme ("EU ETS"), including in respect of Air Canada rouge. Refer to the section entitled "Regulatory Environment" of this AIF for additional information.

The table below sets forth the proportions of passenger revenues derived from domestic, transborder and international services of Air Canada for the years ended December 31, 2015, December 31, 2014 and December 31, 2013:

Domestic	35	37	38
Transborder	22	20	20
International	43	43	42
Total	100 %	100 %	100 %

Air Canada historically experiences greater demand for its services in the second and third quarters of the calendar year and lower demand in the first and fourth quarters of the calendar year. This demand pattern is principally a result of the high number of leisure travelers and their preference for travel during the spring and summer months. Air Canada has substantial fixed costs in its cost structure that do not meaningfully fluctuate with passenger demand in the short term.

For additional information on Air Canada's financial results for 2015, refer to Air Canada's consolidated financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2015, and Air Canada's 2015 MD&A, both of which are available on SEDAR at www.sedar.com or on Air Canada's website at aircanada.com.

SIGNIFICANT FINANCING TRANSACTIONS

Air Canada entered into the following significant financing transactions in the years 2013 through to 2015:

- In connection with the financing of one Boeing 787-8 delivered in January 2015 and eight new Boeing 787-9 aircraft, four of which were delivered in the second half of 2015 and the remainder of which are scheduled for delivery by end of March 2016, Air Canada completed a private offering of three tranches of enhanced equipment trust certificates ("EETC"s) with a combined aggregate face amount of approximately US$1.031 billion. The three tranches of EETC's have a combined weighted average interest rate of 3.81% per annum, and final expected distribution dates between of 2020 and 2027.
- In connection with the financing of three Boeing 787-9 aircraft and two Boeing 777-300ER aircraft, which are scheduled for delivery in April and May 2016, Air Canada completed a private offering of three tranches of EETCs with a combined aggregate face amount of approximately US$537 million. The three tranches of EETC's have a combined weighted average interest rate of 4.044% per annum, and final expected distribution dates between 2023 and 2027.
- Air Canada obtained financing of $118 million in connection with the delivery of one Boeing 787 aircraft. The financing is supported by a loan guarantee from the Export-Import Bank of the United States ("EXIM").
- The margin pricing of the Credit Facility obtained in 2013 and described further below was reduced by 125 basis points.
- The revolving credit facility portion (US$210 million) of the Credit Facility (described further below) obtained in 2013 was extended by one year so as to terminate in 2019. As at December 31, 2015, Air Canada had not drawn down on this revolving credit facility.

- Air Canada obtained financing of US$277 million and $312 million in connection with the delivery of six Boeing 787 aircraft. The financing is supported by a loan guarantee from EXIM.
- The revolving credit facility (described further below) obtained in 2013 was increased from US$100 million to US$210 million and the term was extended by one year so as to terminate in 2018.
- Air Canada completed a private offering of US$400 million of 7.75% senior unsecured notes due 2021 (the "Unsecured Notes"). Air Canada received net proceeds of approximately $432 million from the sale of the Unsecured Notes. The Unsecured Notes were sold at par and provide for interest payable semi-annually. The Unsecured Notes are senior unsecured obligations of Air Canada and are guaranteed on a senior unsecured basis by one of Air Canada's subsidiaries.

- Air Canada completed a private offering of three tranches of EETCs with a combined aggregate face amount of US$715 million, in connection with the financing of five new Boeing 777-300ER aircraft. Four of these five Boeing 777 aircraft were delivered in 2013 and the remaining aircraft was delivered in February 2014. The trust certificates have a combined weighted average interest rate of approximately 4.7% per annum, and a final expected distribution date of 2018 and 2025.
- Air Canada completed private offerings of senior secured notes, consisting of:
 - (i) US$400 million principal amount of 6.750% senior secured first lien notes due 2019 and $300 million principal amount of 7.625% senior secured first lien notes due 2019 (the "Senior First Lien Notes"); and
 - (ii) US$300 million principal amount of 8.750% senior secured second lien notes due 2020 (the "Senior Second Lien Notes" and together with the Senior First Lien Notes, the "Senior Notes").

In conjunction with the completion of the offering of the Senior Notes, Air Canada also completed the closing of its US$400 million senior secured (first lien) credit facility, comprised of a US$300 million term loan maturing in 2019 and a US$100 million revolving credit facility (collectively, the "Credit Facility"). The combined weighted average interest rate of these financing arrangements is approximately 7% per annum. Air Canada received, in total, net proceeds of approximately $1,300 million from the sale of the Senior Notes and from term loan borrowings under the Credit Facility (in each case, after deduction of the applicable transaction costs, fees and expenses). Air Canada applied a portion of such net proceeds and borrowings to purchase all of its then outstanding 9.250% Senior Secured Notes due 2015, 10.125% Senior Secured Notes due 2015 and 12.000% Senior Second Lien Notes due 2016 (collectively, the "Existing Notes") that were validly tendered on or before the early tender deadline (which was September 18, 2013), in connection with the cash tender offers commenced by the Corporation on September 5, 2013. In October 2013, Air Canada used a portion of the remaining net proceeds and borrowings to redeem the remaining Existing Notes of $70 million not tendered prior to the early tender deadline.

RATINGS

The Corporation's access to long-term financing in the debt capital markets is dependent on its credit rating and market conditions. The Corporation believes that it continues to have access to the long-term debt capital markets. Rating downgrades could impact the Corporation's ability to access the capital markets and/or increase its borrowing costs.

Air Canada's corporate ratings, their long-term debt securities and/or enhanced equipment trust certificates (long-term aircraft financing instruments) are rated by the following credit rating agencies:

- Moody's Investors Service, Inc. ("Moody's");
- Standard & Poor's Rating Services ("Standard & Poor's");
- Fitch Ratings, Inc. ("Fitch"); and
- DBRS Limited ("DBRS").

General Note Regarding Long-Term Debt Securities:

The table below shows the range of ratings that each agency may assign to long-term debt securities.

Rating Agency	Highest Rating for Long-Term Securities	Lowest Rating for Long-term Securities
Moody's	Aaa	C
Standard & Poor's	AAA	D
Fitch	AAA	C

Moody's ratings are forward-looking opinions of the relative credit risks of the financial obligations issued by a company. Their long-term debt ratings are assigned to issuers or obligations with an original maturity of one year or more and reflect both the likelihood of a default on contractually promised payments and the expected financial loss suffered in the event of a default.

Standard & Poor's ratings are a forward-looking opinion about the creditworthiness of a company with respect to a specific financial obligation or a specific class of financial obligations. They take into consideration the likelihood of payment, i.e., a company's capacity and willingness to meet its financial commitments as they come due, and they assess terms such as collateral security and subordination, which could affect ultimate payment in the event of a default.

Fitch's ratings provide an opinion on the relative ability of a company to meet its financial commitments, including interest, repayment of principal, or counterparty obligations. They are used by investors as an indication of the likelihood of receiving the money owed to them in accordance with the terms on which they invested. Fitch's ratings are forward-looking and include their analysts' views of future performance. They are opinions on relative credit quality and not a predictive measure of specific default probability.

Ratings are intended to provide investors with an independent view of credit quality. They are not a recommendation to buy, sell or hold securities and may be subject to revision or withdrawal at any time by the rating organization. Each rating should be evaluated independently of any other rating.

During the last two years, each of the rating agencies listed above charged the company the usual customary fees for their ratings services which include annual surveillance fees and issuance fees for newly issued securities. Access to the rating agencies' websites are also typically included as part of their customary service.

PENSION PLAN ARRANGEMENTS

Air Canada maintains several defined benefit pension plans, including domestic registered pension plans, supplemental pension plans and international plans. Air Canada also has several defined contribution pension plans as well as plans providing other retirement and post-employment benefits to its employees. As at January 1, 2015, the aggregate solvency surplus in the domestic registered pension plans was $660 million. Based on the recently finalized actuarial valuations, as at January 1, 2016, the aggregate solvency surplus in Air Canada's domestic registered pension plans increased to $1.3 billion.

On May 26, 2015, Air Canada elected to opt out of the Air Canada Pension Plan Funding Regulations, 2014 (the "2014 Regulations"), which had been effective since January 1, 2014, so that it now funds its Canadian domestic registered pension plans in accordance with normal funding rules. Under the 2014 Regulations, Air Canada was required to make solvency deficit payments of $200 million per year, on average, over a seven-year period. An agreement with the Government of Canada entered into in connection with these regulations contained several restrictions applicable while the 2014 Regulations were in effect, including a prohibition on dividends and share repurchases, however, the agreement allowed Air Canada to opt out at any time. The opt-out was effective January 1, 2015. Under normal funding rules, solvency deficit payments to Canadian domestic registered pension plans were reduced to $96 million in 2015. Total employer pension funding contributions during 2015 amounted to $312 million.

Based on the results of the actuarial valuations, as at January 1, 2016, all Canadian domestic registered pension plans are in a surplus position on both solvency and going-concern basis. No contributions are required or permitted to any plan for past service. For current service, depending on the level of surplus on a going concern basis, a contribution is either not permitted or is optional (except for one small plan), depending on applicable pension rules. Air Canada does not intend to make current service cost payments for 2016 for all plans for which it is allowed to do so. Taking this into account, on a cash basis, total pension funding contributions for 2016 are forecasted to be $76 million.

For additional information on Air Canada's pension plan arrangements, refer to Air Canada's consolidated financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2015, and section 9.7 "Pension Funding Obligations" of Air Canada's 2015 MD&A, which section is incorporated into the AIF by this reference.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE

Air Canada's financial results are reported in Canadian dollars, while a large portion of its expenses, debt obligations and capital commitments are in foreign currencies, primarily in U.S. dollars. Foreign exchange risk is the risk that fluctuations in foreign exchange rates may have on operating results and cash flows. Air Canada has a risk management objective to reduce cash flow risk related to foreign denominated cash flows. Additional information can be found in Air Canada's consolidated financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2015, and section 12 "Financial Instruments and Risk Management" of Air Canada's 2015 MD&A, which section is incorporated into the AIF by this reference.

AIRCRAFT FUEL

Aircraft fuel is a major expense in the airline industry and the single largest expense to Air Canada, representing approximately 23% of Air Canada's 2015 total operating expenses. Additional information can be found in Air Canada's consolidated financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2015, and section 12 "Financial Instruments and Risk Management" of Air Canada's 2015 MD&A, which section is incorporated into the AIF by this reference.

AIRCRAFT FLEET

For information relating to Air Canada's fleet as at December 31, 2015 and fleet plans, refer to section 8 "Fleet" of Air Canada's 2015 MD&A, which section is incorporated into the AIF by this reference.

REGULATORY ENVIRONMENT

In Canada, commercial air transportation, including policy, maintenance standards, operations standards, safety and ground and navigation facilities, falls wholly within the jurisdiction of the Government of Canada and is the responsibility of the Minister of Transport. The Canadian Transportation Agency, an independent administrative body of the Government of Canada, acts as a quasi-judicial tribunal to resolve a range of commercial and consumer transportation-related disputes and acts as an economic regulator, to make determinations and to issue authorities, licenses and permits related to the air transportation industry. NAV Canada, a private sector, non-share capital corporation, is responsible for providing air navigation services in Canada. All major Canadian airports are operated by Canadian airport authorities that are not-for-profit corporations.

On February 25, 2016, the Minister of Transport tabled in Parliament the Canada Transportation Act ("CTA") Review Report, which discusses and makes recommendations across a range of issues, including air policy, infrastructure, and governance. It is not possible to predict with any degree of certainty which, if any, regulatory or other changes would be undertaken by the Minister of Transport as a result of this review.

Transborder Services

Transborder services between Canada and the United States were initially liberalized by the 1995 Canada–U.S. Air Services Agreement. This agreement provides Canadian air carriers unlimited route rights to provide "own aircraft" services between points in Canada and points in the United States. Under the 1995 Canada–U.S. Air Services Agreement, carriers of both countries are free to set their own prices for transborder services according to market forces. Prices may only be disallowed under special circumstances if the authorities of both countries agree, for example in response to predatory or monopolistic pricing behaviour on specific routes. In November 1997, Canada and the United States concluded an agreement that allows Canadian and U.S. carriers to code share to, from and via each other's territory, with carriers from other countries provided the other country allows code sharing and the carriers hold the underlying rights to serve that country. Air Canada code shares with certain Star Alliance® partners via Canada and the United States and some of these Star Alliance® partners' codes appear on some transborder flights operated by other airlines operating flights on behalf of Air Canada under the Air Canada Express banner.

The Open Skies Agreement between Canada and the United States, which came into force in 2007, further liberalized air transportation services. The Open Skies Agreement allows air carriers of both countries (i) to pick up passenger and/or cargo traffic in the other country and carry that traffic to a third country as part of a service to or from the carrier's home country, (ii) to operate stand-alone all-cargo services between the other country's territory and third countries, and (iii) greater pricing flexibility for services between the other country and a third country. The carriage of local traffic between points within one country by carriers of the other country, commonly known as cabotage, continues to be prohibited.

International Services

Scheduled international air services are regulated by the Canadian and foreign governments involved. The Minister of Transport has the authority to designate which Canadian air carriers may serve scheduled international routes. International route rights are obtained through bilateral negotiations between Canada and foreign countries. Bilateral agreements provide for the rights which may be exercised over agreed routings and the conditions under which the carriers may operate, including, among others, the number of carriers which may operate, the capacity and/or flight frequencies that may be provided and the controls over tariffs to be charged. Most bilateral agreements to which Canada is a party provide for the designation of more than one Canadian carrier, while some provide for the designation of only one Canadian carrier.

In May 2002, the Minister of Transport introduced a liberalized multiple designation policy applicable to scheduled international air services by Canadian carriers (excluding services to the United States). Any Canadian carrier may apply to be designated to serve any foreign country regardless of the size of the air travel market. If the number of Canadian carriers permitted is restricted under existing bilateral agreements, the Government of Canada will pursue negotiations with the appropriate countries to seek the necessary rights for Canadian carriers. In addition, an incumbent carrier's designation in a particular market will be subject to reallocation only in circumstances where the bilateral agreement limits designation and the carrier is not operating its own aircraft or code share services.

On November 27, 2006, the Minister of Transport released a new international air transportation policy called Blue Sky that includes a more liberalized approach to Canada's bilateral air transportation negotiations. The Government of Canada indicated that, under the new policy, when in Canada's overall interest, it would proactively pursue opportunities to negotiate more liberalized agreements for international scheduled air transportation that will provide maximum opportunity for passenger and all-cargo services to be added according to market conditions. On December 9, 2008, the Minister of Transport announced that Canada had successfully concluded negotiations with the European Union on a comprehensive air transport agreement. Such agreement includes, among other things, unrestricted direct air services between Canada and European Union member states, flexible pricing arrangements, increased flexibility on code sharing and improved flexibility on cargo services. While the ratification process is on-going, these rights and others contained in this new air transport agreement have been available, on a provisional basis, since December 18, 2009.

Charter Services

Subject to certain exceptions, charter operations are generally not covered by bilateral agreements. Canadian government policy permits Canadian carriers to operate charter services between Canada and any point in the world subject to prior approval of the Canadian and other appropriate regulatory authorities.

The policy governing international passenger charter air services does not contain restrictions relating to advance booking, minimum stay requirements or prohibitions on one-way travel, however it requires that the entire seating capacity of an aircraft is chartered and that charter carriers are prohibited from selling seats directly to the public.

Foreign Ownership Rules

The Budget Implementation Act 2009, contains provisions whereby the provisions relating to voting securities in the Air Canada Public Participation Act ("ACPPA") would be repealed and the CTA would be amended to provide the Governor in Council with flexibility to increase the foreign ownership limit from the existing 25% level to a maximum of 49%. These provisions will come into force on a date to be fixed by order of the Governor in Council made on the recommendation of the Minister of Finance, in the case of the ACPPA, and on the recommendation of the Minister of Transport, in the case of the CTA. Management cannot predict if or when new provisions relating to foreign ownership limits which were also discussed as part of the CTA Review Report (referred to earlier in this AIF) will come into force.

Carbon Emissions

There continues to be heightened focus on carbon (sometimes referred to as "greenhouse gas") emissions emanating from the aviation industry, and legislation in various jurisdictions is being considered or adopted. Legislative initiatives include, for example, market-based mechanisms such as emissions trading systems, designed to reduce the total amount of carbon emissions by all targeted industries through the setting of permissible emissions allowances for these industries. Individual operators within those industries are generally allocated a certain number of free emission allowances and may purchase additional allowances from the pool of permissible emissions allowances. In certain circumstances, they may also purchase or sell permissible emissions allowances among operators across different industries and may obtain emissions credits by investing in certified carbon reduction projects or by taking certain early action in reducing their carbon footprint.

The European Union passed legislation for an emission trading scheme (“ETS”), which included carbon emissions from aviation commencing in January 2012, including for flights operated between Canada and countries within the European Union. As a result of international opposition, the European Parliament and Council announced that they would be exempting all flights between Europe and third countries from the EU ETS until and inclusive of 2016, pending the creation by 2020 of an ICAO led global market-based measure (“MBM”) that is likely to reduce greenhouse gas emissions. If reinstated, the EU ETS would be expected to result in increased costs relating to the purchase of emissions allowances. The net financial impact would, in part, depend upon how much of such cost, if any, would be recovered, including in the form of higher passenger fares and cargo rates. Management cannot predict the outcome of the EU ETS or of ICAO’s efforts to set-up a global MBM or the impact of the EU ETS or a global MBM would have on Air Canada, its business, results from operations and financial condition.

At the Paris Conference of the Parties (COP21) in late 2015, 195 countries adopted a global climate agreement set to come into force in 2020 (the “Paris Agreement”). The Paris Agreement includes a long-term goal of keeping the increase in global average temperature to well below 2°C above pre-industrial levels. Management cannot predict with any degree of certainty the outcome of any climate change framework including its effect on air transportation or Air Canada.

In 2012, the Government of Canada and the Canadian aviation industry agreed on Canada’s Action Plan to Reduce Greenhouse Gas Emissions from Aviation, which is a voluntary action plan that sets an aspirational goal to improve fuel efficiency from a 2005 baseline by an average annual rate of at least 2% per year until 2020 (the “Voluntary Action Plan”). In 2015, the Voluntary Action Plan was reviewed and a 1.5% annual improvement in fuel efficiency was considered to be a more realistic target for Canada. The three principle measures to achieve this target are fleet renewals and upgrades, more efficient air operations, and improved capabilities in air traffic management. The Voluntary Action Plan also supports the aspirational goal of carbon neutral growth from 2020 onwards and absolute greenhouse gas emission reductions by 2050. The Canadian Industry reports annually to the Government of Canada on progress towards the targets.

Official Languages Act

Pursuant to the ACPPA, Air Canada is subject to the Official Languages Act (Canada) (the “OLA”). The OLA compels Air Canada to, among other things, ensure that any member of the traveling public can communicate with and obtain services in either official language, French and English, where there is significant demand for those services in that language (Part IV of the OLA) and to allow its direct employees to work in either official language (Part V of the OLA) where required by regulation. The ACPPA also imposes on Air Canada the obligation to ensure any of its subsidiaries’ customers can communicate with the subsidiary in respect of air services and incidental services, and obtain those services, in either official language, where the number of customers warrants such services.

Pursuant to the OLA, where services are performed on behalf of Air Canada by another party, Air Canada has the duty to ensure that any member of the public can communicate with and obtain those services in either official language in any case where those services, if provided by Air Canada, would be required under the OLA to be provided in either official language.

Anti-Terrorism Legislation

On January 30, 2015, Bill C-51, an Act to enact the Security of Canada Information Sharing Act and the Secure Air Travel Act, to amend the Criminal Code, the Canadian Security Intelligence Service Act and the Immigration and Refugee Protection Act and to make related and consequential amendments to other Acts (the "Anti-Terrorism Act") was tabled for first reading before the House of Commons. The Anti-Terrorism Act would provide a new legislative framework for identifying and responding to persons who may engage in an act that poses a threat to transportation security or who may travel by air for the purpose of committing a terrorism offence. The Anti-Terrorism Act would authorize the Minister of Public Safety and Emergency Preparedness to establish a list of such persons and to direct air carriers to take any necessary actions to prevent the commission of such acts. The Minister of Transport would also have the power to detain an aircraft for inspection and the owner would be required to give such Minister all reasonable assistance to enable them to carry out the inspection. If such Minister is of the opinion that the owner of the aircraft has failed to comply with the legislation, the Minister may make orders in respect of the movement of the aircraft. Management cannot predict if and when the Anti-Terrorism Act may be adopted.

Security

Air Canada is committed to the security of its operations, passengers, employees and assets. Air Canada works with the other stakeholders in the aviation industry, as well as regulators, airports, industry associations, service providers and other third parties, to ensure that the appropriate security measures are implemented in an efficient and effective manner.

Transport Canada regulations require the aviation industry to put security management systems in place. Air Canada has an approved security management system in place which it continues to monitor and evolve. The security management system uses threat/risk assessments in conjunction with government regulations to define appropriate security measures and then monitors compliance through audits and incident reporting. Air Canada has been using its security management system as part of the IATA Operational Safety Audit ("IOSA") compliance process and has found it to be beneficial in driving continuous improvement in the security of its operations.

Air Canada's Corporate Security department provides 24/7 support to the operations world-wide to ensure the security and compliance of the airline's operations.

Safety

In order to improve the safety performance of Canadian air operators and increase accountability in the aviation sector, Canadian Aviation Regulations require air operators to implement a Safety Management System ("SMS") in their organizations and appoint executives who are accountable for safety.

Air Canada has an approved safety management system in place which meets and exceeds the requirements outlined within the Canadian Aviation Regulations. Air Canada's President and Chief Executive Officer has been appointed as the Accountable Executive ("AE") for Air Canada's Safety Management System and Air Canada's Managing Director, Corporate Safety, Environment and Quality is responsible for the day-to-day administration and oversight of the Safety Management System on behalf of the AE.

The development of Safety Management Systems in Canada continues to evolve. In October 2013, Air Canada completed a full SMS assessment with Transport Canada. This process ensures that Air Canada is fully committed to the principles of the SMS program and that its operations are in full compliance with all aspects of an effective SMS program. Further, Air Canada, as a founding member of the Star Alliance® network, is actively engaged in helping ensure that the Star Alliance® members, including Air Canada, are guided by best industry practices and enhanced safety performance. Additional non-regulated measures, such as the completion of Line Operations Safety

Audits, the establishment of Flight Data Monitoring programs, the implementation of Fatigue Risk Management Programs and compliance with IATA, Operational Safety Audit standards are key examples where Air Canada is among those leading international safety efforts.

Air Canada is an active member of the international safety team and actively involved in IATA, ICAO, A4A, NACC and regional safety meetings and working groups. Air Canada is closely aligned with IATA and the Star Alliance® network concerning international benchmarking of standards and safety performance and is sharing its experience and knowledge, especially in the field of Flight Data Analysis, to help develop advanced safety tools to better understand risk, threats and hazards.

The IATA IOSA program is an internationally recognized and accepted evaluation system designed to assess the operational management and control systems of an airline. IATA members are IOSA registered and must remain registered to maintain their IATA membership. Successful completion of a biennial audit is a requirement for Air Canada to remain a Star Alliance member. In 2015, Air Canada and Air Canada rouge conducted the IOSA audits in parallel to each other. Both airlines successfully completed the IOSA audit comprising over 900 standards to be met using a structured audit methodology, including standardized checklists, with the following results; Air Canada received zero findings, four observations while Air Canada rouge received zero findings, three observations.

Privacy

Air Canada is subject to applicable Canadian and foreign privacy laws regarding the collection, use, disclosure and protection of passenger and employee data. In Canada, Canada's federal private sector privacy legislation, the Personal Information Protection and Electronic Documents Act (Canada) (the "PIPEDA"), governs the collection, use and disclosure of personal information in the course of commercial activities by a federally-regulated business. In addition, the PIPEDA regulates the handling of employee personal information by federally-regulated employers. With certain exceptions, the PIPEDA also applies to the collection or disclosure of personal information across provincial or Canadian international borders and within provinces without substantially similar private sector privacy legislation. The PIPEDA requires informed implicit or explicit consent, as the case may be, by the individuals whose personal information is collected and used. The personal information may then only be used for the purposes for which it was originally collected or for other purposes specified in, or allowed by, the PIPEDA. Air Canada has privacy policies which are designed to meet or exceed the requirements of such privacy legislation. The Digital Privacy Act (assented to June 18, 2015) amended PIPEDA to, among other things, specify the elements of valid consent and permitted purposes for the collection, use or disclosure of personal information. The Digital Privacy Act also proposes to amend PIPEDA to provide data breach notification and record keeping requirements, which amendments have yet to come into force. Management cannot predict if or when such provisions will come into force.

On July 1, 2014, the Act to promote the efficiency and adaptability of the Canadian economy by regulating certain activities that discourage reliance on electronic means of carrying out commercial activities, and to amend the Canadian Radio-television and Telecommunications Commission Act, the Competition Act, the Personal Information Protection and Electronic Documents Act and the Telecommunications Act came into force in Canada. Also known as "Canada's Anti-Spam Law" or "CASL", this legislation, principally regulates if, when and how commercial electronic messages may be sent. Air Canada implemented processes in advance of July 1, 2014 to ensure on-going compliance with the requirements of CASL.

INDUSTRY OVERVIEW AND COMPETITIVE ENVIRONMENT

General

The airline industry has traditionally been dominated by large established network carriers. Network carriers generally benefit from brand name recognition and a long operating history. They offer scheduled flights to major domestic and international cities while also serving smaller cities. They generally concentrate most of their operations in a limited number of hub cities, serving most other destinations in their network by providing one-stop or connecting service through their hubs.

Over the past four decades, governments gradually reduced economic regulation of commercial aviation. This has resulted in a more open and competitive environment for domestic, transborder and international airline services, for both scheduled and leisure charter operations. This deregulation transformed the airline industry and allowed the emergence of low-cost carriers, which resulted in a rapid shift in the competitive environment. With their relatively low unit costs largely resulting from lower labour costs and a simplified operational model and product offering, low-cost carriers are able to operate profitably while generally achieving lower yields than network carriers. By offering lower fares, these carriers have expanded and succeeded in gaining market share from network carriers. While the majority of low-cost carriers offer predominantly point-to-point services between designated cities, some utilize a similar "hub and spoke" strategy to the network carriers. WestJet Airlines Ltd. ("WestJet") is the second largest carrier in Canada and operates flights to destinations in North America, Central America, the Caribbean and Europe.

Domestic Market

The Canadian domestic market is characterized by a large geographic territory with a limited number of high density markets accounting for the majority of passenger traffic and revenue. This leads to a concentration of routes in Canada around four major hubs: Toronto, Montréal, Vancouver and Calgary.

Air Canada is the largest provider of scheduled passenger services in the Canadian market. Based on Official Airline Guide ("OAG") data, during the period from January 1, 2015 to December 31, 2015, Air Canada, together with its Contracted Carriers, led the Canadian airline industry's domestic scheduled capacity with an estimated market share of approximately 55% based on Available Seat Miles ("ASMs"). Air Canada is Canada's largest domestic airline. Jazz is the largest regional airline in Canada and operates regional services for Air Canada under the Jazz CPA. Air Canada, together with its Contracted Carriers, carries more passengers, serves more non-stop destinations and provides more flights in the domestic market than any other airline.

Competition in the domestic market is primarily from WestJet. As at December 31, 2015, Air Canada, together with its Contracted Carriers, provided service to 63 domestic destinations within Canada, while WestJet provided service to 38 domestic destinations.

Porter Airlines Inc. ("Porter") is a regional passenger carrier based at and operating primarily from Billy Bishop Toronto City Airport in the eastern triangle market to compete with Air Canada's Rapidair services at Toronto Pearson Airport. The airline serves primarily short-haul business markets such as Ottawa, Montréal, New York (Newark), Chicago (Midway), Washington (Dulles) and Boston (Logan) from Toronto.

Other airlines operating in the domestic market with whom Air Canada competes include: Air Creebec, Canadian North, Central Mountain Air, First Air, Hawkair, Pacific Coastal Airlines, Pascan Aviation, Provincial Airlines, and to a lesser extent: Air North, Air Inuit, and Bearskin Airlines.

The following chart illustrates the estimated share of the overall domestic scheduled capacity provided by Air Canada, together with its Contracted Carriers, as measured by ASMs.

U.S. Transborder Market

In 2015, there were, on average, 1,080 daily scheduled transborder flights operated between Canada and the United States across the industry. Toronto Pearson Airport, Air Canada's largest hub, is the world's largest originator of flights into the United States.

Air Canada is the largest provider of scheduled passenger services in the U.S. transborder market. Based on OAG data, during the period from January 1, 2015 to December 31, 2015, Air Canada, together with its Contracted Carriers, provided more U.S. transborder scheduled capacity than any other airline with an estimated market share of approximately 41% based on ASMs.

Air Canada, together with its Contracted Carriers, carries more passengers, serves more non-stop destinations and provides more flights in the U.S. transborder market than any other airline. Competition in the U.S. transborder market is primarily from U.S. network carriers and their regional affiliates and from WestJet. The U.S. network carriers tend to operate flights between the United States and Canada into their hubs, connecting to flights to other U.S. destinations. U.S. network carriers with U.S. transborder operations include Alaska Airlines, American Airlines, United Airlines and Delta Airlines. In 2015, Air Canada, together with its Contracted Carriers, provided service to 53 U.S. destinations from Canada, while U.S. network carriers provided service to 21 U.S. destinations from Canada and WestJet provided service to approximately 25 U.S. destinations.

Canadian low-cost carriers also operate U.S. transborder services and may further expand these operations in the future.

The following chart illustrates the estimated share of the overall U.S. transborder scheduled capacity of Air Canada, together with its Contracted Carriers, as measured by ASMs.

International Market

Air Canada principally services the international market from three strategically-positioned airports, which are further described below:

- Toronto Pearson Airport, Canada's largest airport, is located in Canada's largest city and offers regular non-stop flights to numerous destinations in Europe, Central America, Caribbean, Mexico, Middle East, South America, Asia and Africa. Toronto Pearson Airport offers, on average, approximately 561 daily departures, of which 17% industry-wide are to international non-U.S. destinations.
- Montréal Trudeau Airport is located in Canada's second largest city, and offers regular non-stop service destinations in Europe, Central America, Caribbean, Mexico, Middle East, Asia and Africa. Montréal Trudeau Airport offers, on average, approximately 254 daily departures, of which 15% industry-wide are to international non-U.S. destinations.
- Vancouver International Airport, located in Canada's third largest city, is strategically positioned on Canada's west coast and acts as a gateway to many Asian destinations, as well as flights to select destinations in Europe. Vancouver International Airport offers, on average, approximately 322 daily departures, of which 9% industry-wide are to international non-U.S. destinations.

Air Canada is Canada's largest provider of scheduled passenger services in the international market to and from Canada and has a broad portfolio of international route rights. Based on OAG data, during the period from January 1, 2015 to December 31, 2015, Air Canada provided more international scheduled capacity in the international market to and from Canada than any other airline with an estimated market share of approximately 37% based on ASMs.

Canadian low-cost carriers as well as Canadian charter airlines and tour operators, such as Transat A.T. Inc. ("Transat") and Sunwing Airlines ("Sunwing"), also operate services to Mexico and the Caribbean and certain of them have expressed an intention to further expand these operations in the future. In 2015, WestJet, Sunwing and Transat provided service to 34, 26 and 26 destinations, respectively, to Mexico, Central America and the Caribbean. Air Canada rouge is enabling Air Canada to compete more effectively against these low-cost carriers serving international leisure destinations.

The continued strategic expansion of Air Canada rouge in conjunction with Air Canada's mainline fleet renewal is a key driver of the airline's strategy for sustainable, profitable growth. Since its first flight in July 2013, Air Canada rouge, Air Canada's leisure airline, has been deployed to a growing number of Caribbean destinations, select leisure destinations in the United States and in Canada, as well as in international leisure markets. In 2015, Air Canada rouge service was introduced from Montréal to Venice and from Vancouver to Osaka. In addition, mainline services from Toronto Pearson Airport to Fort Lauderdale, Lima, Panama City and Sarasota; from Montréal to Fort Lauderdale, Punta Cana and Varadero; and seasonal service from Vancouver to Kona were transferred to Air Canada rouge.

In the transatlantic and transpacific markets, Air Canada competes primarily with foreign network carriers and, to a lesser extent, with charter carriers on higher-density routes during peak travel seasons. In addition, U.S. network carriers compete by flying Canadian passengers through their hubs to destinations in international markets. In 2015, non-stop year-round Air Canada service was introduced from Toronto Pearson Airport to Amsterdam, Delhi and Dubai.

Air Canada has increasingly advanced tools, processes and other competitive attributes to profitably pursue international route opportunities. It has the ability to appreciably increase international-to-international traffic through its strategic international gateways in Toronto, Vancouver, Montréal and Calgary. It is also broadening its network appeal through its membership in Star Alliance®, its revenue-sharing Atlantic joint venture and through numerous codeshare and interline agreements. Furthermore, Air Canada has access to Canada's wide portfolio of international route rights, and Canada's multi-ethnic demographic profile provides the airline with further opportunities to profitably capture demand for international travel. These attributes combined with Air Canada's powerful brand franchise and industry-leading products and services, allow it to leverage its network and benefit from the higher margins generally available in international markets.

In 2015, Air Canada concluded new codeshare agreements with Brazil's GOL Linhas Aéreas Inteligentes to improve air travel connectivity between Canada and Brazil and with Croatia Airlines to improve air travel between Canada and Croatia via common European gateways.

The following chart illustrates the estimated share of the overall international scheduled capacity provided by Air Canada and other airlines as measured by ASMs.

TRANSFER AGENT AND REGISTRAR

The transfer agent and registrar for the Variable Voting Shares and Voting Shares of Air Canada is CST Trust Company with its principal offices in Montréal, Toronto, Vancouver and Calgary.

DIVIDEND RECORD

The Corporation has not declared or paid dividends on its Voting Shares and Variable Voting Shares for any of the financial years ended December 31, 2015, 2014 and 2013.

Air Canada's current policy is to reinvest earnings in order to finance the growth and development of its business and to improve liquidity levels and pay down debt. Certain agreements described in the section entitled "Significant Financing Transactions" include restrictions with respect to Air Canada's ability to declare and pay dividends. In addition, certain other agreements Air Canada may enter into from time to time may include restrictions with respect to the Corporation's ability to declare and pay dividends. Air Canada does not expect to pay dividends in the foreseeable future. Any future determination to pay cash dividends is subject to legal restrictions applicable at the time to Air Canada and to the discretion of Air Canada's Board of Directors. It will also depend on Air Canada's financial condition, results of operations, capital requirements, restrictive covenants in contracts and such other factors as Air Canada's Board of Directors deems relevant.

DESCRIPTION OF CAPITAL STRUCTURE

The authorized share capital of Air Canada is comprised of an unlimited number of Variable Voting Shares and Voting Shares. As at December 31, 2015, 98,059,765 Class A Variable Voting Shares and 184,722,413 Class B Voting Shares were issued and outstanding. The following summary describes the rights, privileges, restrictions and conditions that are attached to the Variable Voting Shares and the Voting Shares. This summary does not purport to be complete and is subject to, and is qualified in its entirety by, the terms of Air Canada's articles of amalgamation, as amended.

Variable Voting Shares

Voting

The holders of the Variable Voting Shares are entitled to receive notice of, and to attend and vote at, all meetings of the shareholders of Air Canada, except where the holders of a specified class are entitled to vote separately as a class as provided in the CBCA.

The Variable Voting Shares may only be held, beneficially owned or controlled, directly or indirectly, by persons who are not Canadians, as such term is defined in the CTA ("Qualified Canadians") and are entitled to one vote per Variable Voting Share unless (i) the number of Variable Voting Shares, as a percentage of the total number of votes attaching to all issued and outstanding voting shares, exceeds 25% (or any higher percentage that the Governor in Council may by regulation specify) or (ii) the total number of votes cast by or on behalf of holders of Variable Voting Shares at any meeting exceeds 25% (or any higher percentage that the Governor in Council may by regulation specify) of the total number of votes that may be cast at such meeting. If either of the above noted thresholds would otherwise be surpassed at any time, the vote attached to each Variable Voting Share will decrease proportionately such that (i) the Variable Voting Shares as a class do not carry more than 25% (or any higher percentage that the Governor in Council may by regulation specify) of the aggregate votes attached to all issued and outstanding voting shares of Air Canada and (ii) the total number of votes cast by or on behalf of holders of Variable Voting Shares at any meeting do not exceed 25% (or any higher percentage that the Governor in Council may by regulation specify) of the votes that may be cast at such meeting.

The Budget Implementation Act 2009, contains provisions whereby the provisions relating to voting securities in the Air Canada Public Participation Act ("ACPPA") would be repealed and the CTA would be amended to provide the Governor in Council with flexibility to increase the foreign ownership limit from the existing 25% level to a maximum of 49%. These provisions will come into force on a date to be fixed by order of the Governor in Council made on the recommendation of the Minister of Finance, in the case of the ACPPA, and on the recommendation of the Minister of Transport, in the case of the CTA. Management cannot predict if or when new provisions relating to foreign ownership rules which were also discussed as part of the CTA Review Report will come into force.

Dividends

Subject to the rights, privileges, restrictions and conditions attached to the shares of Air Canada of any other class ranking senior to the Variable Voting Shares, the holders of the Variable Voting Shares shall, at the discretion of the directors, be entitled to receive, out of monies, assets or property of Air Canada properly applicable to the payment of dividends, any dividends declared and payable by Air Canada on the Variable Voting Shares and the Variable Voting Shares shall rank equally as to dividends on a share-for-share basis with the Voting Shares participating on an as-converted basis. All dividends declared in any fiscal year of Air Canada shall be declared in equal or equivalent amounts per share on all Variable Voting Shares, and Voting Shares participating on an as-converted basis at the time outstanding, without preference or distinction.

Subdivision or Consolidation

No subdivision or consolidation of the Variable Voting Shares or the Voting Shares shall occur unless, simultaneously, the shares of the other class are subdivided or consolidated in the same manner, so as to maintain and preserve the relative rights of the holders of the shares of each of the said classes.

Rights upon Liquidation, Dissolution or Winding Up

Subject to the rights, privileges, restrictions and conditions attaching to the shares of Air Canada ranking prior to the Variable Voting Shares, upon liquidation, dissolution or winding up of Air Canada or other distribution of Air Canada's assets among its shareholders for the purpose of winding up its affairs, the holders of the Variable Voting Shares and Voting Shares shall be entitled to receive the remaining property of Air Canada and shall be entitled to share equally, share for share, in all distributions of such assets.

Conversion

Each issued and outstanding Variable Voting Share shall be converted into one Voting Share, automatically and without any further act of Air Canada or of the holder, if (i) such Variable Voting Share becomes held, beneficially owned and controlled, directly or indirectly, otherwise than by way of security only, by a Qualified Canadian; or (ii) the provisions contained in the CTA relating to foreign ownership restrictions are repealed and not replaced with other similar provisions.

In the event that an offer is made to purchase Voting Shares and the offer is one which must, pursuant to applicable securities legislation or the rules of a stock exchange on which the Voting Shares are then listed, be made to all or substantially all the holders of the Voting Shares in a province of Canada to which the requirement applies, each Variable Voting Share shall become convertible at the option of the holder into one Voting Share that shall be subject to the offer at any time while the offer is in effect and until one day after the time prescribed by applicable securities legislation for the offeror to take up and pay for such shares as are to be acquired pursuant to the offer. The conversion right may only be exercised in respect of Variable Voting Shares for the purpose of depositing the resulting Voting Shares in response to the offer and the transfer agent shall deposit the resulting Voting Shares on behalf of the shareholder.

If the Voting Shares resulting from the conversion and deposited pursuant to the offer are withdrawn by the shareholder or are not taken up by the offeror or the offer is abandoned or withdrawn, the Voting Shares resulting from the conversion shall be reconverted automatically and without further act from Air Canada or the holder, into Variable Voting Shares.

There shall be no right to convert the Variable Voting Shares into Voting Shares or to convert Voting Shares into Variable Voting Shares, except in accordance with the conversion procedure set forth in the Air Canada articles of amalgamation.

Constraints on Ownership of Shares

The Variable Voting Shares may only be held, beneficially owned or controlled, directly or indirectly, by persons who are not Qualified Canadians. Air Canada's articles of amalgamation, as amended, provide that: (i) the Voting Shares may only be held, beneficially owned and controlled, directly or indirectly, by persons who are Qualified Canadians; and (ii) the Variable Voting Shares may only be held, beneficially owned or controlled, directly or indirectly, by persons who are not Qualified Canadians.

Voting Shares

Voting

The holders of the Voting Shares shall be entitled to receive notice of, and to attend and vote at, all meetings of the shareholders of Air Canada (except where the holders of a specified class are entitled to vote separately as a class as provided in the CBCA), and each Voting Share shall confer the right to one vote in person or by proxy at all meetings of shareholders of Air Canada.

Dividends

Subject to the rights, privileges, restrictions and conditions attaching to the shares of Air Canada of any other class ranking senior to the Voting Shares, the holders of the Voting Shares shall, at the discretion of the directors, be entitled to receive, out of monies, assets or property of Air Canada properly applicable to the payment of dividends, any dividends declared and payable by Air Canada on the Voting Shares and the Voting Shares shall rank equally as to dividends on a share-for-share basis with the Variable Voting Shares participating on an as-converted basis and all dividends declared in any fiscal year of Air Canada shall be declared in equal or equivalent amounts per share on all Voting Shares and Variable Voting Shares on an as-converted basis at the time outstanding, without preference or distinction.

Subdivision or Consolidation

No subdivision or consolidation of the Voting Shares or the Variable Voting Shares shall occur unless, simultaneously, the shares of the other class are subdivided or consolidated in the same manner, so as to maintain and preserve the relative rights of the holders of the shares of each of the said classes.

Rights upon Liquidation, Dissolution or Winding Up

Subject to the rights, privileges, restrictions and conditions attaching to the shares of Air Canada ranking senior to the Voting Shares, upon liquidation, dissolution or winding up of Air Canada or other distribution of Air Canada's assets among its shareholders for the purpose of winding up its affairs, the holders of the Voting Shares and Variable Voting Shares shall be entitled to receive the remaining property of Air Canada and shall be entitled to share equally, share for share, in all distributions of such assets.

Conversion

Unless the foreign ownership restrictions of the CTA are repealed and not replaced with other similar restrictions, an issued and outstanding Voting Share shall be converted into one Variable Voting Share, automatically and without any further act of Air Canada or the holder, if such Voting Share becomes held, beneficially owned or controlled, directly or indirectly, otherwise than by way of security only, by a person who is not a Qualified Canadian.

In the event that an offer is made to purchase Variable Voting Shares and the offer is one which must, pursuant to applicable securities legislation or the rules of a stock exchange on which the Variable Voting Shares are then listed, be made to all or substantially all the holders of the Variable Voting Shares, each Voting Share shall become convertible at the option of the holder into one Variable Voting Share that shall be subject to the offer at any time while the offer is in effect and until one day after the time prescribed by applicable securities legislation for the offeror to take up and pay for such shares as are to be acquired pursuant to the offer. The conversion right may only be exercised in respect of Voting Shares for the purpose of depositing the resulting Variable Voting Shares in response to the offer and the transfer agent shall deposit the resulting Variable Voting Shares on behalf of the shareholder.

If the Variable Voting Shares resulting from the conversion and deposited pursuant to the offer are withdrawn by the shareholder or are not taken up by the offeror or the offer is abandoned or withdrawn, the Variable Voting Shares resulting from the conversion shall be reconverted automatically and without further act from Air Canada or the holder, into Voting Shares.

There shall be no right to convert the Variable Voting Shares into Voting Shares or to convert Voting Shares into Variable Voting Shares, except in accordance with the conversion procedure set forth in the Air Canada articles of amalgamation.

Repurchase of Shares

In May 2015, following receipt of approval from the Toronto Stock Exchange, Air Canada implemented a normal course issuer bid to purchase, for cancellation, up to 10,000,000 Variable Voting Shares and/or Voting Shares (the "Shares") representing, at that time, 3.49% of the total issued and outstanding Variable Voting Shares and Voting Shares. The repurchase program is in effect until May 28, 2016.

As at March 17, 2016, Air Canada purchased and cancelled the maximum 10 million Share allotment under the normal course issuer bid, at an average cost of $9.73 per Share for aggregate consideration of approximately $97 million. Air Canada's Board of Directors also approved up to an additional 5 million Shares to be purchased for cancellation before the expiry of the normal course issuer bid on May 28, 2016 (representing, along with the first 10 million Shares, approximately 6.2 per cent of the public float as at May 14, 2015). Air Canada also received approval from the Toronto Stock Exchange to amend its normal course issuer bid for this purpose.

Air Canada may be allowed, from time to time, to purchase shares for cancellation in accordance with applicable securities legislation and the rules prescribed under applicable stock exchange or regulatory policies. Any such repurchase would constitute an "issuer bid" under Canadian provincial securities legislation and would be conducted in accordance with the applicable requirements thereof. Any future decision to purchase shares for cancellation will depend on Air Canada's financial condition, results of operations, capital requirements, restrictive covenants in contracts and such other factors as Air Canada's board of directors deems relevant. Agreements entered into in relation to the Senior Notes, Unsecured Notes and the Credit Facility described in the section entitled "Significant Financing Transactions" in this AIF include restrictions with respect to Air Canada's ability to purchase shares for cancellation.

Air Canada Shareholder Rights Plan

The Board of Directors of Air Canada approved a shareholder rights plan on March 30, 2011 (the "Rights Plan"). The Rights Plan was designed to foster fair treatment of all shareholders of Air Canada in connection with any take-over bid for Air Canada. The plan was approved by the shareholders of Air Canada at the annual and special shareholder meeting held on May 5, 2011.

The Rights Plan creates one right in respect of each Variable Voting Share and Voting Share of Air Canada outstanding as at March 30, 2011 or subsequently issued. Until the separation time, which typically occurs at the time of an unsolicited take-over bid, whereby an Acquiring Person (as defined in the Rights Plan) acquires or attempts to acquire 20% or more of the Variable Voting Shares or 20% or more of the Voting Shares, the rights are not separable from the shares, are not exercisable and no separate rights certificates are issued.

Under the Rights Plan, each right, other than those held by an Acquiring Person and certain of its related parties, entitles the holder in certain circumstances following the acquisition by an Acquiring Person of 20% or more of the Variable Voting Shares or 20% or more of the Voting Shares of Air Canada (otherwise than through the "Permitted Bid" requirements of the Rights Plan) to purchase from Air Canada $200 worth of Variable Voting Shares or Voting Shares for $100 (i.e. at a 50% discount). Upon such exercise, holders of rights beneficially owned and controlled by Qualified Canadians would receive Voting Shares and holders of rights beneficially owned or controlled by persons who are not Qualified Canadians would receive Variable Voting Shares.

On June 4, 2012, the shareholders of Air Canada approved amendments to the Rights Plan. Subject to certain exceptions identified in the Rights Plan, it would be triggered in the event of an offer to acquire 20% or more of the outstanding Variable Voting Shares and Voting Shares of Air Canada calculated on a combined basis. This is instead of 20% or more of the outstanding Variable Voting Shares or Voting Shares calculated on a per class basis as was the case under the Rights Plan prior to the amendments that came into effect in 2012.

The amendments to the Rights Plan were proposed in order to render effective a decision issued by Canadian securities regulatory authorities (pursuant to an application of Air Canada) that effectively treats Air Canada's Variable Voting Shares and Voting Shares as a single class for the purposes of applicable take-over bid requirements and early warning reporting requirements contained under Canadian securities laws. A copy of the decision is available under Air Canada's profile at www.sedar.com.

The Rights Plan, which was originally approved at Air Canada's 2011 annual and special shareholder meeting, is designed to provide Air Canada's shareholders and the Board of Directors additional time to assess an unsolicited take-over bid for the company and, where appropriate, to give the Board of Directors additional time to pursue alternatives for maximizing shareholder value. It also encourages fair treatment of all shareholders by providing them with an equal opportunity to participate in a take-over bid.

The Rights Plan was scheduled to expire at the close of business on the date immediately following the date of Air Canada's annual and special meeting of shareholders held on May 15, 2014 and was renewed pursuant to shareholder approval at that meeting for a period of three years.
